Supreme Court.

[Befor His Lordship Chief Justice Needham] Thursday, Dec 19

IN PROBATE-In the matter of the Estate of Isaac Humphreys, late of Government street, in the city of Victoria, a deceased intestate.

This case was resumed at 11 o'clock. Mr Woods submitted an affidavit from Mr John Copland, setting forth that he had been the attorney for the deceased during the last four or five years, and was in his confidence, and that deceased told him frequently that he (the deceased) was born in England, and was brought to New York when he was three years old by his parents, who were English, and further submitted that location was prima facie evidence of domicile, and it remained for his learned opponents to move to the contrary. In regard to the effect of the decision of the Court in this case, the learned counsel urged that the appointment of Mr Francis as administrator would be a matter of some moment -a solema act of the Court having the effect of a judgment in rem., and a decision against all the world of the status of the subject matter. (Taylor, on evidence, p. 1342.) Though the status of the subject matter may be here urged to be only the bare fact of whether or no the administrator is de facto and de juro administrator, yet inasmuch as Mr Francis bases his claim upon the fact of Mr Humphrey's being an American citizen, domiciled in America, the fact of administration being granted to Mr Francis, presupposes the fact of the domicile and citizenship of the deceased; and if this is shown on the judgment of the Court to be a fact found by the Court, this fact binds the world. If not absolutely found by the Court, and so absolutely binding on all parties, yet there is at the least an inconvenience and is justice in granting an administration which is based on a fact (as here the fact of domicile and nationality) without there being distinct legal and positive proof, beyond reasonable contradiction of this fact, viz : That there is no finality in the decision. (Taylor, on evidence, p. 1345) It establishes a prima facie case against any subsequent claims of the next of kin who urges claim under a different domicile, and would be apparently a decision on sufficient

Mr Ring in closing the argument said : dmitting that a man's place of residence was prima fucie evidence of his domicile in Victoria, the negative of this was proved by some dozen affidavits of persons who had known the deceased here and in San Francisco; and to presume that a white man, of 67 years of age, was born in Vancouver Island, was something ludicrous. The authorities which showed that the condition of change of domicile was the clearly defined intention of a man to cease as a subject of the land of his birth, and change his allegiance to another land, or as it is tersely ·put, "quaternis in ills exudre patrium," weie completely unanswered by Mr Wood. In short, the deceased's domicile was America; and his personality by the law of every civ la ized country should go according to the law of his domicile, and for that puopose should be administered by the Consul, who was under obligations to his Government for the correct performance of his duty.

The Chief Justice said he would take time to consider the judgment, and in the meantime notice would be sent to the Attorney

A NEW YEAR IS CLOSE AT HAND, and in the festive season of holiday and social pleas sures, it the duty of all good citizens to give a searching thought to their social responsibilities. Let the head of every family ask himself if, in case of his sudden demise, those dependent upon him would be provided with means to keep them from want or the world's cold charity? The question is allimportant. We refer our readers to this day's advertisements of the Mutual Life Insurance Co, of New York. Many of our business men are policy-holders in this gigantic and reliable institution; and experience proves that their policies-from the large percentage of dividends-is one of the best and most remunerative investments possible. What present would be more acceptable to a family than a paid-up policy in the Mutual Life Insurance Company of New COUNTY COURT .- Mr Pemberton yesterday sat as County Judge. Only one case came before him-Phillips vs Willson & Rickman. Suit was brought to recover $40 rent, in lieu of notice, and a small sum, value of a partition removed from one part of the premises to another. Defendants paid $40 into Court, and proved an offset as regarded the partition. The Judge awarded the $40 in pleaded was sufficient to satisfy the damage done to the partition. The question of costs was taken under advisement. For the plaintiff, Mr Courtney; for the defendants, Mr Green.

THE STEAM FIRE ENGINE. -The Tige Engine Company have subscribed $1000 towards the ourchase of a steam engine, and have appointed an influential committee to solicit subscriptions for the remainder. The Insurance Companies have already signified their intention to act most liberally-Mr Wigham, on behalf of the Royal, having subscribed $300, and Mr J. R. Stewart, on behalf of the Companies for which he is agent, bought with intrigue, with blood, with gold, $200. Other agents will probably return as with any means in short which could be $200. Other agents will probably return as tovorable answers. We wish the committee all the success that the project deserves.

Successfully Laid -Mr Spencer yesterday succeeded in laying the leaden pipe designed to carry water from this side of the harbor to Gowen & Co.'s Flour-mills, on the Indian Reserve. The pipe submerged is 500 feet long. The entire length of pipe from this shore to the mills is nearly 1700 herself the ally and supporter of Arabia, as feet. The pine was laid in the harbor by feet. The pipe was laid in the harbor by means of a scow and a reel, made upon the same principle as the reels used in laying a te egraph cable. It is hoped that the mills will be in receipt of a supply of water the year round.

THE BOY, THIEF. - The little man Davis who, by the way, is not a son of Mrs Davis, formerly of the lighthouse) was brought bef re Mr Pemberton yesterday. The theft was clearly established. The little rascal laid out every dime of his spoil in the purchase of pop-guns, shot-guns and bon bons He is only seven-having started into business at a rather tender age. He was re-

THE BENEFIT TO MR. BARTHOLOMEW -- W. hope none of our readers will forget the last benefit of the year, which comes off this evening at the theatre. Mr Bartholomew is deserving of a full house. Every citizen should take one ticket for himself and one for each of his friends. It is the last opportunity that you will have of showing your appreciation of a very worthy man. The box office will be open to-day from 10 to 3 o'clock.

HOW ENGLISH ACCOUNTS ARE KEPT-The tollowing anecdote will show with what nice precision the accounts are required to be kept in the great private banking houses o the English metropolis: After closing the doors to customers, every clerk makes up his accounts and a general balance is struck which must tally to the veriest farthing before the clerks separate. It happened, on the oc-casion in question, that in one of those great establishments there were two shillings and tenpence minus in the balance. Every clerk was ordered to revise his accounts, the silver and copper in the vast vaults were recounted -bu' still there was no solution in the cause of the deficit. This was repeated over and over again, still they wanted two shillings and teapence. The resident partner would not let the clerks depart without a correct balance. Gladly would each clerk have paid the difference out of his own pocket. The state remained many lating a until next more affair remained unexplained until next morn ise, when on the arrival of one of the non-resident partners, he recollected taking that exact sum from the till for the payment of the postage on a foreign letter, but without making the usual memoraodum of the same

A RACING MARE LITERALLY WORTH HER WEIGHT IN GOLD.—A correspondent of the Bristol Times and Mirror says:—I have been estimating the money value of the per-formances of the famed mare "Achievement" during her wonderful career, from her first appearance as a two-year-old at New market to her last victory at Doncaster yes-terday. Out of the 20 races she has run during that period she has won 15, and in stakes alone she has netted for her spirited owner, Col Pearson, a sum of $28,000, literally her weight in sovereigns, as the following calculation will prove. Assuming the price of gold at £3 17s 6d. per oz, there would be on every cut as nearly as possible 7.000 sovereigns.—I don't make a very close calculation, as it is not necessary.—4 cut would make up 28,000, and, taking the mare as heling about this weight as she is gold. as being about this weight, as she is slight and slim you will see that she has really been worth her weight is coined gold, irrespective altogether of the sums Col. Pearson

'There, that'll do? said Harry, throwing down the shoe brush, 'my boots don't look very bright. No matter. Who cares?'
'Whatever is worth doing is worth doing well,' replied a serious but pleasant voice Harry started and turned round to see who spoke. It was his lather. Harry blushed. His father said: 'Harry, my boy, your boo's look wretchedly. Pick up your brush and make them shine. When they look as they should, come into the library.'

'My 800 I want to ten you a snort story.
I once knew a poor boy whose mother taught him the proverb, 'whatever is worth doing is worth doing well.' That boy went to be a servant in a gentleman's family. He took wine to be a servant in a gentleman's family. pains to do everything well, no matter how trivial it seemed. His employer was pleased and took him into his shop. He did his work and took him into his shop. He did his work well there. When he swept out the shop he did that well. When he was sent on an errand he went quickly, and did his work faithfully. When he was told to make out a bill, or to enter an account, he did that well. This pleased his employer so that he advauced him from step to step, until he be-came clerk then a partner, and now he is a rick man, and anxious that his son Harry should learn to practice the rule which made

'Yes, my son, so poor that I had to go into a family and black boots, wait at table and do other little menial services for a living. By doing these things well I was soon put, as I have told you, to do things more important. Obedience to the proverb, with God's blessing, made me a rich man?

Harry never forgot the conversation Whenever he felt like slighting a bit of work, he thought of it, and lelt spurred to do his work properly. Whatever is worth doing is worth doing well," cheered him in his

THE 'new reporter' of a New York paper made a capital beginning the other day. He went out to hunt items, and after being away all day returned with the following; which he said was the best he could do;— Yesterday we saw a sight that froze our mu oles with horror. A hackman, driving down College Street at a rapid pace, came very near running over a narse and two children. There would have been one of the most heartrending catastrophes ever recorded had not the nurse, with wonderful forethought, left the children at home before she went out, and providentially stepped into a dry goods store, just before the hack passed Then, too, the backman, just before reaching the crossing, through of something he had lorgotten, and turning about drove off in the opposite direction. Had it not been for this wonderful occurrence of favourable circumstances, a doting tather, a loving mother, and effectionate brothers and sisters, would have been plunged into the deepest woe and most unutterable funeral expense.

THE ATLANTIC CABLES .- It must have ap peared extraordinary to those who have watched the condition of the submarine telegraph lines connecting Europe with America that while the 1865 cable which was picked up from the depths of the occan after it was thought it had been irremediably lost, has since its junction with America remained intact, that of 1866 has been ruptured twice The explanation of this is, however, exceed-ingly simple. It appears that when the shore end of the 1866 cable was being laid from the Great Eastern, the vessel was in a fog, and unfortucately this part of the line was laid over a shoat patch, about 49 athoms in depth, so that the icebergs which so constantly occur in that region, reaching as they often do, to the bottom, cut the cable. The wire has been completely repaired, but it has been resolved upon to raise the shore end of it as soon as possible from its present bed and remove it to a deeper channel.

The abundant grain crops of California and Oregon have found ready markets in Europe and the Eastern Provinces. Nearly every ship that reaches San Francisco is chartered to carry grain from that port to some port in the Orient, where the yield has been scant and prices are consequently high; and flour is shipped via the Isthmus by every steamship that leaves for New York, where flour commands $13 and $14 per barrel. Last year's crops in the United Kingdom were unu sually deficient; and in some countries on the Continent the yield has been far below the average. In France, the wheat crop is reported at less than an average. Belgium and Spain are so deficient that they will be obliged to import, and Poland is in but a little better condition. Southern Russia will have large supplies, and in Hungary the yield is so heavy that even now the railroads are unable to move all the grain that offers, and store-houses are crowded. Turkey, on both sides of the Bosphorus, is said to have good crops, and will have something to spare. In Algeria (Africa) so scarce are all kinds of food that France is called upon loudly. Egypt is said to have abundant harvests, but perhaps there should be ssome abatement from this statement since they could scarcely be over the prostration caused by attempting to supply England with cotton. The famine in India is largely due to this same cause. In estimating probable prices of grain in Europe, the almost utter dearth of breadstuffs in many parts of the United States before the present harvest, is to be taken into account; for, before foreign shipments can reach former proportions, we must be supplied at home. It is a singular fact that in neither France, England, nor in the United States, are there old stocks of wheat on hand, and their next year's bread must come almost wholly from this year's crop. The New York Herald, which once took the Penian organization into its especial keeping, now denounces them as rogues and coward. Of their last demonstration in New York, the Herald pithily remarks: "Those terrible fellows in buckram, the Feniane, are again poking the British lion in the sides and threatening him from Jones' Wood. A muster and parade of the "grand army" of the Irish republic, consisting of a single brigade of "centres" and patriotic recipients of the money of poor servant girls, took place on Tuesday, and was followed by libations of lager beer, and the usual backneyed assurances of the wonderful power and prospects of the organization. The servant girls, however, taught by the experience of the last two years, keep aloof, and there is otherwise provided by lawful authority, is little to be got now when the extend and Fenian hat is passed around. They have been humbugged too often not to of Chief Justice Needham, I submit to be know now that a flank movement by way of Jones' Wood is directed against their pockets and not against the " cruel Sassenach." At the last muster and bluster of the ferocious yet funny Fenians the organization was represented by the usual set of gentlemen. gamins, poets, adventurers, filibusters, saints and sinners, who jump up like a "Jack-in-the-box" whenever a policeman is beaten or a prisoner rescued across the ocean. But their race is run, as, with Archbishop McCloskey and his olergy against them, their raids on the hard earnings of their poor, honest fellow-countrymen in this city have been effectually stopped.

administration of that justice; and that consider themselves amonable to thint law, still I was not a little astonished upon reading the extraordinary article—an article evidently the result of official inspiration—which the editor of the British Columbian has the tor of the British Columbian has this morning presented to his readers upon a case recently decided in the Supreme Court here, and upon which another trial is still pending—the case of Hamly vs. Baronovich.

The editor of that paper begins by aying, " The defendant, a person who enjoys the reputation of having more than once supplied our coast Indians with fire-water which had never paid duties to her Majesty," &c. What that reputation has to do with the case at present before the Court is more than I can understand. The law implies that every man is innocent until proved guilty. We are told that British laws and British juries have to do, and to do only, with the evidence brought before them. It is nothing what Baronovitch has done, or has been supposed to do; it is the evidence and that alone, as laid before the jury, upon which they must form an opinion.

The Columbian says this evidence is clear and conclusive. Let us see what this clear and conclusive evidence is. The first witness is a man employed by defendant about the schooner, who becomes informer and, as such, is entitled to a part of the penalty. He states that he saw Baronovich land three kegs of liquor at Kithkathla. Peter Dadavich, another hand aboard the schooner, states that the schooner did not call at Kithkathla at all. Further evidence being required, two Indians were sent for and brought here by a promise of thirty blankets to one and thirty-two blankets to the other. Upon their arrival, Nanovich, the informer, having overhauled his memory, stated the liquor was not sent ashore in kegs, but was carried ashore by Indians, in buckets. The Indians accept the second version of Nanovich's story and they also saw it carried away in buckets; they also testified that they had seen Baronovich there the year before, when it is well known he was in Europe; not only that, but Baronovich was never confronted with these Indians in order that they might identify him as the man they had seen there. They acknowledged themselves unable to distinguish one schooner from another; all they knew about the matter was that the man's name was 'Charlie," and consequently Charlie must be Baronovich. Why, sir, for 30 blankets apiece, I could furnish a hundred Indians ready to swear to anything and everything. Such is the "clear and conclasive" evidence of the Columbian, and because a Victoria jury refused to convict a man upon such flimey evidence as that, the editor of that delectable sheet works himself up into a furious passion with Victoria and everything Victorian. No jury would convict even a dog upon such evidence; and what is more- though it is a fact well known to every man from Burrard's Inlet to the Rocky Mountains—I do not believe that any jury upon no better evidence than that would be willing to convict that sapient editor himself of being the most servile sycophant that has ever dishonored and disgraced the bonor and dignity of public journalism, by laying every vestige of his manhood prostrate in the dust, if that dust is only honored by bearing the footprint of "our excellent Governor." The Columbian says, "admitting as they did that the spirits were landed at Kunkathla, they were liable to no duty," &c. This is incorrect, the defence never admitted landing goods there; they claimed, if they had been landed there they were not liable to duty, and in order to show they were liable to duty, His Honor read from the Act of Union the clause which says that the laws in force in the separate Colonies of British Columbia and Vancouver Island

Government is plaintiff. One man against a Government is surely entitled to at least FAIR FLAY.

OAKLAND, Ind., 6th June, 1850.

A.C.Ayer & Go. Gentis: I feel it my duty to acknowledge what your Sarsaparilla has done for me.
Having inherited a Scrotalous infection, I have suffered from it in various ways for years. Sometimes it burst out in Ulcers on my hands and arms; sometimes it turned inward and distressed me at the stomach. Two years ago it broke out on my head and covered my scalp anid ears with one sore, which was painfull had loathsome beyond description. I tried many medicines and server physician, and Syphilis and Mercurial Disease.

New Oulleans, 25th August, 1859.

Dr. J. C. Ayen: Sir, I cheerfully comply with the request of your agent, and report to you some of the effects thave realized with your Sarsaparilla.

I have cured with it, in my practice, most of the complaints for which it is recommended, and have found; its effects thuly wonderful in the cure of Yentreat and Mercuriat Disease. One of my patients had Syphilitic ulcers in his throat, which were consuming his palate and the top of his mouth. Your Sarsaparilla steadily taken cured him in five weeks. "Another was attacked by secondary symptoms in his nose, and the ulceration had caten away sorder would soon reach his brain and kill him. But it, yielded to my administration of your Sarsaparilla; the ulcers healed, and he is well again, not or course without some disfiguration to his face. A woman who had become so sensitive for the weather that on a damp day she suffered excruciating pain in her joints and bones. She, too, was cured entirely by your Sarsaparillar in a few weeks. I know from its formula, which your nigent gave me, that this Preparation from your inhoratory must be a great formula, which will your agent gave me, that this Preparation from your, inhoratory must be a great remedy; consequently, these truly remarkable rosults with it have not surprised me.

This is a remedy so universally known to surpass any other for the cure of throat and lung complaints, that it is useless here to publish the evidence of its virtues. Its unrivalled, excellence for coughs and codes and list truly wonderful cures of pulmonary disease, have made it known throughout the civilized nations of the earth. Few are the communities, or even families, among them who have not some personal experience of its effects — some living personal experience of its effects — some living personal experience of its effects—some living trophy in their midst of its effects—some living trophy in their midst of its victory over the subtle and dangerous disorders of the throat and lungs. As all know the dreadful fatality of these disorders, and as they know, too, the effects of this remedy, we need not do more than to assure them that it has now all the virtues that it did have when making the cures which have won so strongly upon the confidence of mankind.

NO MORE COD LIVER OIL

The syrup is employed with the greatest success, in place of Cot Liver Oil, to which it is infinitely superior it cures diseases of the chest, scrobina, lymphatic disordere, green sickness, muscular atony and loss of appelite. It regenerates the constitution by purifying the blood, and is, in a word, the most powerful deparative known. It never fatigues the stomach and books, and is administered with the greatest efficacy to young childen subject to humors or obstruction of the gland. At last, it is very efficacious in the diseases of the skin.

GRIMATILT'S SYRUP OF HYPHOSPHATE OF LIME.

No More Poverty of the Blood and Paie Complexion,

This new ferroginous medicine contains the elements of the blood and bonce, and iron in a liquid state. It is different from all hitherto offered to the public, is liquid, colorless and tasteless. It specifity cures chloreds, pains in the stomach, difficult digestion, dysencorfusa and anemia.

The majority of the Academies of Medicine of Paris recommend the Presiphate of Iron to laries of delicate constitution suffering from anema, and other persons taguad from over anxiety, nervous emotions, over work, general debility and pootness of blood.

It is the only preparation which never causes contition and can be borne by the most delicate stomachs.

COUNTERFEITS.

IN ORDER TO GUARD THE PUBLIC IN ORD FR. TO GUARD THE PUBLIC And all our oil patrons against runners of the lowest grade, pregnant with false respects with regard to the GLOBES HOTES, being, or about to be, closed, and the proprieters of the same on the brink of bankington, by, teerefore, take great pleasure in Informing the public and our friends that the GLOBE still continues to ravive on the same Hautonian principle as hereto force, backed by an A. No. I. Meat Market, which in itselfing its equilibrium on a healthy basis.

We would also wan travellers and the public in general against the assertions of one of the above class—a meat paddler—who makes it his particular business to lead the public against the assertions of one of the institution the reputation of which, for years, is so well known to the travelling community Holloway's Cintment.
